

Selling Is Urged By Cripps

Declares That To be the Best Solution in the Plight of Britain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps declared today the "only satisfactory solution" for Britain's economic plight is to sell enough goods for dollars to become self-supporting.

Britain's chancellor of the exchequer made that statement in a speech prepared for a National Press club luncheon.

Indicating British acceptance of American advice to streamline selling techniques, he said that "On the question of exports to dollar markets, I believe that there is a most urgent need for more intensive salesmanship."

Sir Stafford pictured the solution of the country's economic crisis as essential for the coordinated political and military strength of the west in its struggle with Communism.

He said Secretary of State Acheson and British Foreign Minister Bevin have made "remarkable progress" toward building the western political and defense structure but added:

"All this progress will be in vain if we fail to provide a sound economic basis for these combined efforts of the free democracies."

Hard Work Essential

The twin themes of Cripps' address were hard work for the British people in their struggle to live on their income and hope for success in the British-American financial talks which opened here Wednesday.

These talks, Cripps reported, "have opened in an atmosphere of mutual determination to bring some more permanent solution so as to avoid these recurring crises in the dollar-sterling relationship."

Out of the talks already have come indications of limited American help to Britain in meeting its current dollar crisis. Long-range aid, however, may be slow in developing. Congressional action likely will be required on several major proposals.

On the long-term problem of boosting Britain's sales to this country to a point where the island nation can become self-sufficient there is, however, considerable less certainty. It is possible the conference may end next week without decisive agreement on specific steps to be taken in this field.

On specific measures of early aid to Britain, American negotiators in the conference have indicated full cooperation with the British in several ways: In trying to approve the marketing appeal of their goods in this country, in doing all possible to speed government purchasing of strategic materials, in helping British exporters iron out their difficulties with American customs, and in recognizing Britain's need to buy as much as she can in areas where dollars are not necessary.

A policy of encouraging Export-Import bank loans to India and other countries where an outpouring of dollars would help Britain is also being favorably considered by American officials.

Truman Denies Desire To Fire Air Secretary

Scoffingly Rejected Story Of Memo Of Cedric R. Worth

By Roger D. Greene
WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Pres. Truman Thursday roundly denounced a report that he wanted to fire Air Secretary Symington in mid-1948 but was talked out of it.

"Out of the Whole Cloth" Mr. Truman told his news conference.

That story is just one out of the whole cloth. He never ever heard of it.

(The President's expression "out of the whole cloth" is defined in the dictionary as meaning "entirely fabricated," or made up, "hence without basis, as a lie.")

Mr. Truman scoffingly rejected the story when newsmen noted that the report had bobbed up anew before a naval court of inquiry into a now-discredited memorandum prepared by Cedric R. Worth, suspended civilian official of the navy.

The memo, on which, Worth has since recanted, hinted at fraud in the Air Force's B-36 Superbomber program, and quoted various other rumors adverse to Air Force officials.

It said it was reported that after Symington came out for a bigger air force than the President wanted, Mr. Truman was on the point of firing him but was dissuaded by the late Secretary of Defense Forrestal on the ground that it would make Symington a martyr.

Navy's Probe Continues
The Navy's B-36 probe, designed to find out who had a hand in the origin of the memo, went forward today at a quickening pace.

Testifying before the three-man naval board, plane maker Glenn L. Martin of Baltimore emphatically denied that he helped instigate the memo, which attacked the Air Force's six-engined global B-36 as obsolete.

Just a few minutes earlier, Cmdr. Thomas D. Davies, pilot of the Navy's record-breaking "Truculent Turtle" bomber, had testified that the memo derived in part from a request by Martin, whose company does not make the B-36's.

Davies said the aircraft manufacturer wanted the information to hand it over to Senator Tydings (D-Md.).

Received Memo Last Spring
Martin said he received the memo from its once anonymous author, Worth, last Spring.

The plane builder said Cmdr. Davies sat in on a conference with him and Worth last April, and he told the court:

"Davies expressed the opinion that the B-36 could be shot down at 40,000 feet, wasn't invulnerable, and he couldn't understand why they wanted to put all their eggs in one basket—concentrating so much money in one ship."

The Naval inquiry is not a trial. It is a fact-finding investigation, and there are no defendants, at least by name.

Mrs. Freda Unruh, heart-broken mother of the 28-year-old Bible-reading slayer, related the incident to her brother, Fire Capt. Robert Wonseller.

Denial He 'Peddled' Memo

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—A young navy flier denied to a board of admirals today that he "peddled on Capitol Hill" the anonymous document which touched off the B-36 bomber investigation.

Lt. Samuel P. Ingram declared that in fact he never saw the document until the House Armed Services committee began an investigation.

Ingram testified before a navy court of inquiry. The court is trying to find out whether any navy men, other than Cedric R. Worth, a civilian employee, had any part in preparing and circulating the now discredited memorandum.

Ingram said he did know something about how the document came to be prepared—that Rep. Charles B. Deane (D-NC) had asked Worth for a memorandum of information on national defense.

Capt. Sanford Wood, navy judge advocate, said Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services committee had said Ingram "peddled" the document.

Saturday Night Shopping

A large number of Sedalia's department and other stores that are not cooperating fully in the mid-week shopping night on Thursdays, and some who are operating both that night and Saturday, will be open Saturday night as has been their custom for many years.

By the end of this month the results of the Thursday mid-week shopping experiment will be determined and then it is possible that a decision will be forthcoming as to whether merchants now following that plan will continue.

Whatever method the individual merchants, partnerships and other business interests follow Sedalia will continue to be an aggressive shopping center, the business men declare.

Battle of Salerno Started Six Years Ago in Italy

By Hal Boyle
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Six years ago today Italy was surprised by the greatest tourist influx in its history.

A number of German visitors were already there. And they weren't surprised. They were on the beaches—waiting.

The reaction that followed is known as the Battle of Salerno. It is one of the real milestones of the second World War, marking the first joint British-American landing on the continent of Europe.

Expectant of Jobs Step-up

Recent Business Pick-up Regarded Reassuring

By Sterling F. Green

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Further improvement in the unemployment picture is expected this month. This would reinforce August's 400,000 decline in the number of jobless men and women.

Officials predicted also that the July setback in industrial production will be wiped out completely when the federal reserve board issues its August index.

Government economists were cautiously optimistic in appraising yesterday's report of the census bureau. It showed that civilian employment rose to 59,947,000 last month.

That was tops for 1949, although almost 1,300,000 below the record total of a year ago.

The tally of jobless meantime dropped to 3,689,000 as mills, mines, stores and business houses absorbed workers. In July unemployment was 4,095,000 highest since 1942.

Expect "Leveling Off"
One highly placed economist said the significance of this showing "should not be exaggerated, but we have certainly pulled away from the downward spiral" which has prevailed since last fall.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer agreed, in guarded language, he saw evidence of a "leveling-off" and declared "we are in a fundamentally sound condition for continuing our economic advance."

Democratic and Republican spokesmen in the Senate disagreed with each other. Senator Lucas (D-Ill) the majority leader, proclaimed there is "now no reason to fear a further recession." The GOP floor leader, Senator Wherry (Neb) felt that the 400,000 drop in unemployment was "too small to be regarded as a reliable index."

It was learned, meanwhile, that Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the president's council of economic advisers, told President Truman yesterday that the business outlook will be clearer a month from now.

While Nourse found the August pick-up reassuring, he is understood to have reported that the pending negotiation of fourth-round wage demands may have

Fierce Fight at Beachhead

The Germans quickly massed four other divisions around the beachhead. And for five stubborn days of around-the-clock fighting the allies fought to keep from being thrown back into the sea. And there were many — high officers among them — who thought that would happen. Wise men slept with their clothes on.

I landed with a group of air force engineers whose job was to land quickly after the first infantry groups and build an air-

Declare Coal Be Available

Considerable apprehension as to the fuel situation in Sedalia was created as the deadline for the Missouri Pacific operating employees neared Sedalia coal dealers announced today they have a goodly supply of coal on hand with more coming in on orders and state deliveries can be made within a reasonable time. They state coal is available from mines in Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, which can be transported over the M. K. & T. lines for the strike duration.

Should the emergency develop that a shortage might be threatened other sources of supply from coal mines nearer Sedalia would be brought into more general operation to meet all needs.

Approval by Committee On Arms Bill

Would Use Fund For Opposition To Communism

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—A special Senate committee today approved a $1,314,010,000 global arms bill with $75,000,000 earmarked for anti-Communist aid in the Far East.

By a vote of 19 to 3, the combined Senate foreign relations and armed services committees stamped approval on the arms measure which carries $1,000,000,000 for re-arming North Atlantic pact nations.

Only minor matters remain to be ironed out before the committees take a final vote on the arms bill Monday. Chairman (D-Tex) of the foreign relations committee told reporters.

As the bill now stands, it contains:

$1,000,000,000 for the North Atlantic nations.

$211,370,000 for Greece and Turkey.

$27,640,000 for Iran, Korea and The Philippines.

$75,000,000 to be used in the Far East at the discretion of President Truman.

Before the committee acted a Republican leader proposed that Congress give the U. S. joint chiefs of staff full control of aid for non-Communist China.

Second Largest Crop of Corn

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department today estimated this year's corn crop at 3,525,741,000 bushels—the second largest of record.

Wheat production was put at 1,129,081,000 bushels, the fourth largest ever grown.

The corn estimate is 12,516,000 bushels less than the 3,538,257,000-bushel forecast a month ago. It compares with last year's record of 3,650,348,000 bushels and with the ten-year (1938-47) average of 2,787,628,000 bushels.

The new corn figure did not change the possibility of government controls of some sort next year aimed at preventing accumulation of a livestock feed-grain surplus. However, no decision on controls is expected for another month or so.

The wheat estimate is 2,749,000 bushels less than the 1,131,830,000-bushel forecast a month ago. It compares with 1,288,406,000 produced last year and 991,950,000 for the ten-year average.

The estimate of winter wheat was unchanged from 894,874,000 bushels forecast a month ago. It compares with 990,098,000 last year and 726,553,000 for the ten year average.

All spring wheat was put at 234,207,000 bushels, or 2,749,000 bushels less than 236,956,000 bushels forecast a month ago.

Copper Officials Among 22 Killed

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—(AP)—A Canadian Pacific Airlines plane crashed near Quebec City today, with two top executives of the Kennecott Copper Co., among the 13 passengers believed killed.

The Kennecott executives were President E. T. Stannard and Vice President R. J. Parker, both of New York.

Four crew members of the DC-3 plane also were killed.

The plane crashed about 40 miles from Quebec, and a Canadian Pacific officials said all its occupants were dead, as far as could be determined immediately.

Stannard, the Kennecott president, was a director of J. M. Morgan and Co., Johns Manville Corp., and the Braden Copper Co.

A Kennecott employee named only as Storke also was listed as dead.

The crew members were identified as Pilot Pierre Leurin, Co-pilot Gordon Alexander, Flight Engineer Emile Therrien and Stewardess Gertrude McKay, all of Montreal.

Halt To Trains Due Strike In Effect Today

Strike Dispute Is Over Rules

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The dispute leading to the Missouri Pacific strike is complex. Wages and hours in general are not an issue.

The argument is over various rules affecting the railroad's operating employees — engineers, firemen, conductors and other trainmen.

The railroad interprets the rules one way. The four operating brotherhoods disagree with this interpretation in 282 cases. These grievances by the employees involve an estimated $3,000,000.

Some of the claims date back ten years. Most of them arose during the years of World War II. Each of the 282 grievances is different. Here is an example:

The unions accuse the railroad of running a train crew from one seniority district into another. This, the unions say, deprives men in the second district of work that should be theirs. They want the men in the second district reimbursed for the work they didn't do — but which the unions say they were entitled to do.

Eagle The Last Mo. Pac. Train Before Strike

Mail be Handled By Trucks; Ready to Close Station

The Missouri Pacific Eagle from Denver, Colo., to St. Louis, due to arrive at 8:38 a. m. was the last train to stop in Sedalia until some kind of settlement has been made between the four brotherhoods, and the company. The strike called for 2:00 o'clock this afternoon has paralyzed train service here. The company has closed the Missouri Pacific shops here and sometime between 4:00 and 5:00 o'clock this afternoon will close the Missouri Pacific passenger station, padlock the doors and board up the windows.

Mrs. Truman Aboard
A passenger on the last train through Sedalia was Mrs. Harry S. Truman, who is on her way to Washington, D. C. Mrs. Truman got on the train at Independence after spending some time at her home there. She had been with her mother, Mrs. D. W. Wallace, Mrs. Wallace was injured in a fall last Sunday.

The office of J. F. Downs, division freight and passenger agent for the Missouri Pacific, located on the second floor of the depot will be open every day from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. Monday through Friday, during the emergency.

The post office has made plans for the mail service during the strike and all possible will be sent over the M. K. T. railroad. But it has also made arrangements to truck the mail from Kansas City to Sedalia, from Jefferson City to Sedalia and also truck on the branch line to Higginsville. There will be two out-fits every 24 hours, one each way on each route and the truck routes will start operating Saturday. According to the post office department the service will not be as good as usual but there will be service.

Brotherhood Headquarters
Headquarters were set up by Sedalia members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Order of Railroad Conductors and Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen this afternoon, at 2:00 o'clock in an upstairs hall, located at 103½ West Main street.

Officers were to be elected today to take charge of the meetings, which will be held twice a day, at 10:00 a. m. and 2:00 p. m. All members have been instructed not to enter railroad property.

Differences On Rules
The brotherhoods which represent the 500 employees — engineers, firemen, conductors and other trainmen — see the rules one way; the railroad sees them another. There are 282 individual claims by the employees, involving $3,000,000.

President Truman appointed an emergency fact-finding board in the dispute last July, acting under the National Railway Labor Act. The railroad charged the brotherhoods nullified "the letter and spirit of American democracy" by failing to accept the board's findings.

R. E. Davidson, spokesman for the brotherhoods, said a recommendation for arbitration of the issues was rejected "because some issues are just not arbitrable."

Three Missouri Pacific subsidiaries—the Gulf Coast Lines, the International-Great Northern and the Texas & Pacific—have separate contracts with the unions and will not be affected by the strike. The three operate in Texas and Louisiana.

T. & P. Would Drop Trains
DALLAS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Texas and Pacific railway asked permission today to discontinue four passenger trains a day between Fort Worth and Texarkana during the Missouri Pacific strike.

The Texas Railroad commission which received the request, said it expected to act "in a matter of hours."

The T & P connects at Texarkana with the M.P. for through passenger and freight service to and from St. Louis.

The T & P said it wants to operate only one train daily each way between Fort Worth and Texarkana during the strike.

Mail Will go Through
Many Sedalians and others have concerned themselves about the mail situation, by calling the post office, railroad and bus depots and press, and are wondering whether its dispatching will carry on in the usual manner.

Postmaster Edward P. Mulalley declared this morning in the event of a Missouri Pacific railroad strike, set for this afternoon, temporary messenger service would be handled between St. Louis and Kansas City by emergency trucks.

Transportation Is Stopped on the Missouri Pacific This Afternoon

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—With almost all of the railroad's trains already halted, five thousand operating employees of the Missouri Pacific went on strike at 2 P. M. (CST) today.

A few trains on long distance runs were still en route to their destinations when the deadline passed, and continued on to their terminals.

But the railroad had stopped most trains in its ten-state area earlier in the day to avoid last minute confusion.

An additional 22,500 non-operating employees received notices their jobs were to be abolished with the end of today's business. Some 2,500 employees were to remain on the job.

The last hope of delaying the strike was abandoned by government mediators shortly after noon.

Last Missouri Pacific passenger train to leave St. Louis was No. 3, bound for Little Rock. It departed at 7:22 a. m. Last train due in was No. 4 from Texarkana, Ark., scheduled to arrive at 5:30 p. m.

No unusual occurrences were reported today at Union Station, but police were instructed to pay particular attention to Missouri Pacific property. Officials at the bus terminal here said at 10:00 a. m. that they had not yet noticed any increase in passengers.

Railroad officials said they doubted that any perishables were caught in the tieup, as a freight embargo was imposed last Tuesday to allow time for rolling stock to reach its destination.

A strike will cripple hundreds of towns and thousands of industries.

Last minute efforts to stop the strike were made in Washington, but were unsuccessful.

President Truman said yesterday he was doing everything he could, but added that the government had exhausted nearly all its authority in such cases.

Embargo Placed
An embargo on passenger, mail and baggage service became effective early today. Some long-distance trains, however, were not expected to complete their runs until after the strike deadline.

In addition to the 5000 operating employees, a spokesman for the road estimated that 80 or 90 per cent of the Missouri Pacific's non operating personnel have received layoff notices.

The dispute behind the strike is not over wages and hours. At issue is the manner in which various operating rules should be interpreted.

Gives Talk to P-T Council On Publicity

Mrs. W. C. Lee Tells Of The 'Key Steps' To Publicity

The Sedalia Council of Parents and Teachers held its regular meeting at Parish Hall Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. John Loague, President, presiding. Mrs. Wilfred C. Lee chose for her topic "Key Steps of Publicity." Mrs. Lee stated the success of the Parent Teacher Movement depends in a large measure upon the understanding cooperation of the citizens in whose community it operates as a local unit. The publicity committee must interpret aims, ideas and programs to the public and to the membership until the community is thoroughly aware that the P.T.A. has contributions to make to society. Mrs. Lee has for several years been publicity chairman for the Missouri Parent Teacher, a monthly publication. She also teaches at Whittier school.

Speaks On Clinic

Mrs. Bettye Murrell, school nurse, spoke on the county-wide Immunization Clinic to be held in the Court House on September 29th and 30th sponsored by the Pettis County Court. The purposes of this clinic are to remind parents of the need for protection against these Communicable Diseases, by immunization and vaccination; to see that all children needing immunization have an opportunity to receive them; and to assist the schools in meeting requirements of the State Department of Education for classification of schools by participating in a County Immunization Clinic.

Vaccine and Toxoid will be furnished by the State Board of Health. The Pettis County Court will furnish space for the Clinic and will pay all expense, other than a small fee which will go to the Doctors.

The Clinic will be held on the second floor of the Court House. Doctors and Registered Nurses will conduct the Clinic, volunteers from P.T.A. groups, Homemakers Clubs, and the Health Council will assist in registering the children and preparing them for immunization. It will be necessary to schedule schools for each day and hour, this schedule will be announced later. There will be movies on Nutrition and Dental Health shown to children who have to wait. The Clinic is for all school districts in Pettis County and is open to pupils of all schools, Parochial, Public, white and colored.

Duties of Chairmen

Following Mrs. Murrell's explanation of the Clinic Mrs. M. E. Green, who for many years served on the Executive Board of City, County and State Parents and Teachers Association, spoke on the importance of Chairmen. Mrs. Green compared the chairman of any organization to the small wheels in a clock, saying that each wheel must work and do its part or the clock will not run correctly. Therefore the chairman of any P.T.A. organization must do what is expected of them or the unit in which they serve will not be an effective one. Mrs. Green explained briefly the duties of each chairman.

Confederate Vets Won't Call It Quits

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Scott Hancock, adjutant of the Confederate Veterans organization, isn't one to hurry things up. Consequently he has said he will give some thought to a major issue, confronting the "men in gray." That's a question of whether to exert his group's influence to halt issuance of a special three-cent postage stamp commemorating the veterans' annual reunion at Little Rock Sept. 27-29.

Hancock, a St. Louis attorney, said he would have something to say on the problem after the convention.

The three-cent stamp has created a dither among rebel veterans. Some think the postoffice is under the impression the Arkansas gathering is to be their last.

Not so, said Hancock. They plan another reunion next year and that definitely will be their last.

"We had decided to make this our final reunion but then some of the men thought that maybe we ought to have at least one more—next year," Hancock said.

He acknowledged having received a telephone call today from the daughter of Gen. James W. Moore, Selma, Ala., commander-in-chief of the Confederate Veterans.

Hancock said Moore's daughter protested for the general the proposed issuance of the postage stamp.

'Laugh Red Party Out of Existence'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—President Truman was reported to have told a veterans group that "he is not so sure whether the Communist party should be outlawed or just laughed out of existence."

Clyde A. Lewis, of Plattsburg, N. Y., new commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, told reporters Mr. Truman made that remark when a copy of the VFW program was handed him. One of the points in that program calls for outlawing the Communist party in the United States.

Lewis said the President is skeptical about legal action against the party and "he doesn't agree with us; he feels the Communist party can be taken care of under present laws."

How to Play Canasta: 10

Canasta is Like a Hurdle Race

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

This article gives a few pointers on Canasta. Canasta is like an obstacle race. To reach the finish line, you must get past certain fixed hurdles on the course; to win, you must make better time than your competitors. You are likely to fall by the wayside if you fail to keep watch on both the obstacles and the competitors.

The fixed hurdles are:

- (a) Making the initial meld;
- (b) Getting the pack;
- (c) Completing one or more Canastas;
- (d) Getting rid of the last card.

Sometimes—with an assist from Dame Fortune—you can hurdle two or three of these barriers in one jump. You may get the pack in making your initial meld; you may go out with a concealed hand, encompassing (a), (c), and (d) at once.

Naturally, your chances of winning the race, or making a big profit, are greatly increased by any such telescoping of the course. But, most of the time, you have to take the hurdles one by one. You have to be prepared to deal separately with the special difficulties thrown up around each by the rules of the game.

AT the same time you want to outdistance another partnership, or other players. To some extent, you can enhance the difficulties for them. It is as tough—to keep up the analogy—you were allowed to push boulders in their path. But in so doing you slow yourself up too, and on net you may turn out to be the loser.

Vacationers Trapped By California Fires

KING CITY, Calif., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Possibly 100 vacationers—including movie actor Phil Terry—were trapped in Tassa Jara Hot Spring resort last night by a 1,000-acre forest fire.

An excited caretaker telephoned U. S. forest officials that the conflagration started at the resort this afternoon—but neglected to say who or how many vacationers were there.

Forest officials said the holiday-makers presumably were in on great danger "if they just keep their heads"—And presumably no one was hurt.

The resort—in central California—is in a pocket in Los Padres national forest about 20 miles west of here. There is only one road out, through rough mountains.

The fire was reported burning away from the resort, to the northwest. That would close the one road, but take he flames from the resort.

The springs was reported not surrounded by flames.

Letter used most often in the English language is "e" and the second most common is "t" according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Bing Crosby Helps Canadian Legion

JASPER PARK, Alta., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Crooner Bing Crosby took over the controls of a big tractor and turned first sod of the New Canadian legion hall here Wednesday night.

He drove up and down the plot, handily manning the controls and singing as the plow behind the tractor cut the sod.

Then he started a fund drive by presenting the Legion branch with a check for $1,000.

Crosby is holidaying at Jasper and playing in the annual Totem Pole golf tournament.

British Seeking Changes

More Freedom in Spending of ECA Dollars Outside U. S. is Desired

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8—(AP)—The three-power conference on the British financial crisis today set up a special committee to go into Britain's request for more freedom in spending ECA dollars outside the United States.

It was learned that Britain has told the United States that unless changes are made in the present Marshall plan operations they will have to spend several hundred million more dollars out of their dwindling reserves.

The decision of the American, British and Canadian cabinet ministers to make a special study of the whole question of the use of ECA funds was one of four decisions made today.

Three Chief Problems
Several groups were also assigned to work on the following three problems:

1. Commodities and stockpiling: Britain has told the United States on this point that a speedup in the use of American funds for stockpiling strategic materials such as rubber and tin would assist the British government in increasing its dollar earnings. Those materials are produced in areas which do their trading in the British pound sterling.

2. Customs procedure: Both Britain and Canada have repeatedly complained to the American government that its customs procedures are so cumbersome and old-fashioned that foreign exporters are discouraged from trying to get goods into this country for sale here and that American buyers are discouraged from seeking foreign goods. A solution to this problem, from the British viewpoint, would have the same effect as a solution to the stockpiling problem—that it would fit into the request of Sir Stafford Cripps that the United States open greater markets to British goods.

3. Overseas investments: British and Canadian conferees are reported to have taken the position that the United States, as the world's greatest creditor nation, must find new ways to put dollars to work by encouraging heavier American investments in foreign countries.

The announcement of the work at today's session—the third meeting of the conference which opened yesterday—was made by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, the chief American delegate, in a news conference at the state department, where the meetings are being held.

Consider Earnings
Snyder said that Paul Hoffman, the ECA administrator, and Averell Harriman, the ECA ambassador in western Europe, considerably broadened the subject of Britain's dollar earnings at this morning's session to include the problem of dollar earnings of all the ECA countries.

Hoffman, Snyder said, took the same line in the closed meetings with Cripps and the other conferees that he has taken in public statements in recent weeks—advocating better British sales techniques and the development of goods appealing to Americans at a competitive cost.

Asked whether devaluation of the British pound has come up, Snyder said he would not discuss devaluation publicly "at any time." Pressed on the point, he sharply replied "Let's drop that and go on to something else."

In the case of the committee on "ECA eligibility" Snyder confirmed in response to questions that the work of this committee would cover the proposal to give the British greater freedom—in spending Marshall plan dollars where they figure they can get what they want at the least cost in dollars.

Cripps has not specified how the United States might go about enlarging its markets for British goods.

Queens Chosen In Activity Drive

Thursday morning each class elected the following queens: Seniors, Joan Cummings; Juniors, Jo Ann Pasley; Sophomores, Margie Cummings; Freshmen, Shirley Smith; Eighth Grade, Ruthann Watters.

N. Y. Advertising Man Goes Berserk Is Killed

SUFFERN, N. Y., Sept. 8—(AP)—A New York advertising man, medically discharged from the Marines, went berserk in a restaurant early today and was slain by a policeman.

The advertising man, Lee Graves, 39, had broken away from the home of a friend a few minutes earlier when a physician said he should be committed to a mental institution for observation.

Police Lt. William A. Crouse, who shot and killed Graves, was critically injured when Graves hit him on the head with a chair. Two bus drivers eating in the restaurant also were injured.

Unruh Taken To New Jersey State Hospital

Mother Knew Nothing Of Her Son's Killings Until Thursday

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 8—(AP)—The mother of Howard Unruh learned for the first time today of the slaughter caused by her son when he ran amok with a gun, killing 13 persons and wounding three others.

Mrs. Freda Unruh fainted when told of the 20-minute massacre Tuesday. Her first words when she regained consciousness were:

"Howard, my poor Howard. He didn't know what he was doing."

Worries Over His Care

Informed her son had been removed to a mental institution; she said she was worried that he would not get proper care there.

"He has hay fever," she said. "They won't give him enough handkerchiefs there."

Until today Mrs. Unruh knew nothing of her son's wholesale killings. She collapsed when he began his shooting spree, and was kept under the care of a physician at the home of a sister.

Police ruled out early arraignment of Unruh on 13 murder charges, saying doctors wanted to check his sanity first.

The 28-year-old Bible-reading, gun collecting, ex-artilleryman, in solitary confinement at New Jersey state hospital for the insane at Trenton.

Agrees To Mental Tests
Unruh voluntarily agreed to enter the institution for further psychiatric tests. Four doctors had examined him previously.

The one bullet that struck Unruh is still in his left hip.

Garber said that "in the interest of orderly process," no statements on Unruh's mental condition will be issued except "to the proper authorities at the proper time."

Separate funeral services will be held for all of Unruh's victims. Ten will be buried tomorrow, two on Saturday. Arrangements for the 13th are not yet completed.

Truman Denies Desire To Fire Air Secretary

Scoffingly Rejected Story Of Memo Of Cedric R. Worth

By Roger D. Greene

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8—(AP)—President Truman today roundly denounced a report that he wanted to fire Air Secretary Symington in mid-1948 but was talked out of it.

"Out Of The Whole Cloth"

Mr. Truman told his news conference:

That story is just one out of the whole cloth. He never ever heard of it.

(The President's expression "out of the whole cloth" is defined in the dictionary as meaning "entirely fabricated," or made up, "hence without basis, as a lie.")

Mr. Truman scoffingly rejected the story when newsmen noted that the report had bobbed up anew before a naval court of inquiry into a now-discredited memorandum prepared by Cedric R. Worth, suspended civilian official of the navy.

The memo, on which Worth has since recanted, hinted at fraud in the Air Force's B-36 Superbomber program, and quoted various other rumors adverse to Air Force officials.

It said it was reported that after Symington came out for a bigger air force than the President wanted, Mr. Truman was on the point of firing him but was dissuaded by the late Secretary of Defense Forrestal on the ground that it would make Symington a martyr.

Navy's Probe Continues

The Navy's B-36 probe, designed to find out who had a hand in the origin of the memo, went forward today at a quickening pace.

Testifying before the three-man naval board, plane maker Glenn L. Martin of Baltimore emphatically denied that he helped instigate the memo, which attacked the Air Force's six-engine global B-36 as obsolete.

Just a few minutes earlier, Cmdr. Thomas D. Davies, pilot of the Navy's record-breaking "Triton" bomber, had testified that the memo derived in part from a request by Martin, whose company does not make the B-36's.

Davies said the aircraft manufacturer wanted the information to hand it over to Senator Tydings (D-Md.).

Received Memo Last Spring

Martin said he received the memo from its once anonymous author, Worth, last Spring.

The plane builder said Cmdr. Davies sat in on a conference with him and Worth last April, and he told the court:

"Davies expressed the opinion that the B-36 could be shot down at 40,000 feet, wasn't invulnerable, and he couldn't understand why they wanted to put all their eggs in one basket—concentrating so much money in one ship."

The Naval inquiry is not a trial. It is a fact-finding investigation, and there are no defendants, at least by name.

General Says Russia Has Already Declared War

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Sept. 8—(AP)—Russia already has declared war on the United States, Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, U. S. Air Force, retired, told a meeting of Pacific Gas Association delegates today.

As formula for liberty, Gen. Eaker suggested: "Realize our danger, stay strong, destroy the fifth column which is stronger than that which took over Czechoslovakia; support research so this nation may have the best weapons; keep manpower strong by settling differences between manpower and labor, and teach our children patriotism."

Hunted Negro Hides Among Dead Bodies

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 8—(AP)—For two hours police chased Frank Ray, 19, Negro, wanted for questioning in a robbery. Finally the suspect darted into a funeral home.

The officers said they were stumped until they had an idea. They went into the morgue with a flashlight and began feeling the bodies side-by-side. Sure enough, they came upon a warm one. It was Ray.

No Change In Condition Of Justice Wiley B. Rutledge

YORK, Me., Sept. 8—(AP)—A hospital spokesman said tonight there was no change in the condition of Supreme Court Justice Wiley B. Rutledge.

Justice Rutledge was reported earlier today as showing no improvement in a paralysis of his left side, caused by a cerebral hemorrhage. The 55-year-old jurist has been a patient at York Village hospital since Aug. 27.

Huge Loan to Yugoslavia

Would be For Machinery And Mine Equipment

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8—(AP)—Diplomatic officials said today they understood the Export-Import Bank has approved a multi-million dollar loan to Yugoslavia.

The amount was reported to be around $20,000,000. The money would be used mainly to buy machinery and equipment needed by Yugoslav copper, lead and zinc mines.

The credit would be the first direct American loan to the Yugoslav government since Marshal Tito broke with Moscow about 15 months ago.

Yugoslavia has been pressing an application for a loan for about three weeks.

Secretary of State Acheson is known to have strongly supported the application. He argued that it was a "calculated risk" necessary to bolster Yugoslavia's economy and strengthen Tito as a symbol of independence from Moscow's orders.

Yugoslavia proposes to repay the loan with dollars earned through shipments of lead, zinc, and copper to the United States.

These raw materials are all being stockpiled by the United States for an emergency.

Debutante Killed in Fall on Liner in the Mid-Atlantic

BOSTON, Sept. 8—(AP)—A boat-swain's mate said today that a Dallas, Tex., debutante was killed on a liner in mid-Atlantic when she and her male companion fell backward down a stairway, their arms around one another.

The American Export Line steamship Excalibur docked today with her flag at half mast, carrying the body of Adrienne Atwell, 20, who was returning from a holiday cruise to Europe.

An eye-witness account of the tragedy was told to newsmen by boat-swain's mate Luis Rivera, 26, of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Rivera said he had gone on duty at 4 a. m., ship's time, last Saturday, to queue down the deck and was chatting with one of his gang when he saw the girl and Robert M. Willard, 21, also of Dallas, ascend a narrow stairway with his arm around her waist and her arm about his back.

He said they passed from his view on the stairs and then he heard a scream.

Both, he said, came tumbling down backwards, the girl landing across the young man's body on the wooden deck.

Summoned Hospital Ship

Rivera said he picked her up and placed her in a deck chair because he feared the weight of

Negro Gambler Helps Catch Counterfeiters

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 8—(AP)—A sharp-eyed Missouri Negro gambling house operator plugged a flow of counterfeit $10 and $20 bills into east Arkansas, Secret Service Agent Neil Shannon said here today.

Three Memphis Negroes, Charles Taylor Koen, Arthur Brown and Willie Effinger, were indicted on counterfeiting charges by a federal grand jury here Tuesday and are being held in Poplar Bluff, Mo., in default of $2,000 bonds.

Shannon said the Negroes made trips into east Arkansas in July, passing the bogus bills in many liquor stores and filling stations in Forrest City, Crawfordsville, Blytheville, Earle, Parkin and Osceola, Ark.

He reported that gambling led to their arrest when a Negro game operator in a Missouri town disliked the look of some of the money he saw being wagered and reported it.

Talk on Polio To Kiwanians

William F. Brown Explains Drive On For Funds

The reason for the Polio Epidemic Emergency Drive of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which began in the United States Thursday, was explained by Prosecuting Attorney William F. Brown, chairman of the Pettis county chapter, in a talk before the Sedalia Kiwanis club meeting in Bothwell hotel.

Of all the problems faced by American families in 1949, few have caused more anxiety than the grim threat of infantile paralysis. The speaker explained how the national foundation functioned in this emergency, spending money where vitally needed in epidemic and other areas and also for research to develop serums.

The speaker mentioned that Pettis county had been fortunate in that only one case is known to have originated in this county, and none in Sedalia, although there have been several cases among persons who contracted the disease elsewhere.

Funds Be Provided

Mr. Brown said that during the March of Dimes earlier in the year $3,200 had been collected, half of which went to the national foundation. In case the need arises in this county, the foundation will provide funds through the crisis.

Infantile paralysis is the most expensive disease contracted by man, Mr. Brown said. Costs of caring off patients with the crippling disease run from $3,000 to $15,000 per patient.

Because of the tremendous costs involved during the current national epidemic the national foundation is starting an emergency drive for funds.

Clinton Mueller, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

The club sang birthday greetings to a fellow member, Abe Rosenthal.

Members of the local club who as delegates will attend the Mo-Kan-Ark district convention in Kansas City, September 11 to 14 are: President Bert Hathaway, Arthur Klang, Walter Kennedy and Ken Miller.

American Bar Rejects U. N. Crime Idea

U. N. Proposal Is To Make Mass Murder A International Crime

By Tom Yarbrough

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 8—(AP)—The American Bar Association came out against mass murder today, but refused to go along with the exact language of a United Nations proposal to make it an international crime.

Debate Lasts Three Hours

After a hot debate that lasted three hours and into the afternoon, the House of Delegates decided the U. N. proposal threatens too much of this country's domestic law.

The lawyers demanded safeguards against giving any international body an authority over crimes now handled by federal and state courts.

As a result, the House of Delegates, policy making body of the ABA, adopted a compromise resolution "abhorring" genocide, a new word for mass killing on racial or religious grounds.

But it rejected the treaty as now written because of "important constitutional questions."

It was argued, for example, that under the genocide convention a lynching in this country could be put up to an international court for punishment. Others said that wasn't so, because of the emphasis on "mass" killing.

Treaty Before U. S. Senate

The treaty is before the U. S. Senate—and up to the other United Nations too. What the Bar Association had to decide was whether to recommend ratification or not. Its answer was "no" without important reservations.

The thing that made the attorneys insist on reservations is a peculiar turn of the U. S. constitution, as compared with others over the world. In this country, when the Senate ratifies a treaty, it has the force of domestic law, overriding previous federal and even state laws in case of a conflict of authority. In most other countries they ratify—and then have to enact more laws to make the treaty work.

That's why Harold E. Stassen, former presidential aspirant, at this convention came out for a constitutional amendment to put this country in line with the others.

Holman In Debate

Frank E. Holman of Seattle, re-living president of the ABA and a strong opponent of the genocide convention, had said he would keep out of the debate, but in the last stages he came forth with a speech.

One committee of the ABA headed by Carl B. Rix of Milwaukee, former ABA president, was flatly against ratification of the genocide convention. Another, headed by Charles S. Rhyne of Washington, D. C., was for it—with major reservations. The House of Delegates handed the matter to a special committee for a compromise and adopted that group's proposal.

Philip B. Periman, solicitor general of the United States, contended the compromise would be "no action at all" and would show the bar "going in different directions at the same time."

China-Aid Plan Near Compromise

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8—(AP)—Senators edged toward a compromise China-aid plan today after a military expert told them a $75,000,000 outlay—plus U. S. supervision—might check the tide of Communism in Asia.

Vice Admiral Oscar C. Badger recommended the Far Eastern Anti-Communist fund to a closed-door meeting of the Senate foreign relations and armed services committees. The group is studying an arms plan to strengthen friendly nations against Communism.

Badger told the Senators that four areas remain in China where Red armies might be effectively opposed. He said American assistance could possibly save Thailand, Burma, India and other Far East areas from falling under Red domination.

He also suggested the aid should be given only to Chinese leaders with plans which meet the approval of American officials. And the aid should be directed by Americans.

This report of Badger's testimony was relayed to reporters by Senator Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the combined Senate committees. The admiral has just returned to Washington from duty in the Pacific where he has been serving as commander of U. S. Naval forces in the Far East.

Connally who has been the chief opponent of direct aid to non-Communist China, said he would go along on a compromise to give President Truman authority to spend $50,000,000 (M) to $75,000,000 (M) for an anti-Communist program in Asia. The Texan insisted, however, he would not agree to a compromise which would earmark a specific sum for China aid.

MoPac Bus Strike Is A Possibility

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 8—(AP)—Possibility of another transportation tieup was disclosed today as Arkansas geared itself for a strike by Missouri Pacific Railway operating employees.

The MoPac is the chief rail line in Arkansas.

State Labor Commissioner C. K. Call said he has been advised that negotiations between the Missouri Pacific Transportation Co., and its bus employees had reached a "complete deadlock" and that a strike was a possibility. He said the information came from the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

The MPTC is owned by the Missouri Pacific railroad and operates in Arkansas, Missouri and Illinois—principally in Arkansas.

The strike of Missouri Pacific railway workers is scheduled to begin at 2 p. m. tomorrow, but rail service was to begin slowing down at midnight, tonight.

No train was to leave a terminal after midnight unless it could reach its next terminal before 2 p. m. tomorrow.

R N Club Had Picnic at Lodge Tuesday Night

Miss Lucy Bothwell Tells of History Of Beauty Spot

Tuesday evening the R. N. club with its membership composed of registered graduate nurses, met at Bothwell Lodge with 37 members and their husbands attending.

Preceding the contributed picnic dinner Miss Lucy Bothwell conducted a tour of the lodge including her own private apartment, and told about many of the treasures there which she showed to the guests.

Following the dinner Miss Bothwell gave an interesting history of the Bothwell Lodge. She had written to the state to secure the original manuscript on the history of the lodge written by John Homer Bothwell, which was to have been published. Mr. Bothwell sent the manuscript to the state, that they might use it for history of Missouri. Miss Bothwell told of John Homer Bothwell, of the original building on the high hill and then of the various stages of adding to it. She also explained how the money for Bothwell hospital was given by Mr. Bothwell which was of great interest to the nurses. To add to the story Miss Bothwell showed many pictures taken in the early days and one of particular interest was one of the old mail carrier, with an umbrella on his route that led up to the lodge. The members of the R. N. club were very grateful to Miss Bothwell for the interesting evening she had provided for them.

Tells of Part by Nurses

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Herbert Berlin, president. Among the things discussed were the County Immunization Plan and Mrs. John Murrell explained the part the nurses' club would play in the organization and assisting the doctors at that time. A discussion was held on the nurses volunteer service to speak at the P.T.A. for the immunization program October 1, at which time a woman from the state will be here to discuss the State Practical Nurses bill.

At the October meeting the speaker will be from the national organization of Registered Graduate Nurses and will talk to the clubs in this district.

Confederate Vets Won't Call It Quits

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 8—(AP)—Scott Hancock, adjutant of the Confederate Veterans organization, isn't one to hurry things up.

Consequently, he said today, he will give some thought to a major issue confronting the "men in gray." That's a question of whether to exert his group's influence to halt issuance of a special three-cent postage stamp commemorating the veterans' annual reunion at Little Rock Sept. 27-29.

Shancock, a St. Louis attorney, said he would have something to say on the problem after the convention.

The three-cent stamp has created a dither among rebel veterans. Some think the postage is under the impression the Arkansas gathering is to be their last.

Not so, said Hancock. They plan another reunion next year and that definitely will be their last. "We had decided to make this our final reunion but then some of the men thought that maybe we ought to have at least one more—next year," Hancock said.

He acknowledged having received a telephone call today from the daughter of Gen. James W. Moore, Selma, Ala., commander-in-chief of the Confederate Veterans.

Hancock said Moore's daughter protested for the general the proposed issuance of the postage stamp.

Paralysis Of MoPac Is Started

President Truman Says He Is Doing Everything He Can To Avert Strike

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 8—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific railroad planned to start halting its passenger trains shortly after midnight tonight in advance of a strike by operating employees set for 2 p. m. (CST) tomorrow.

President Truman said in Washington he is doing everything he can to avert the scheduled walkout. He gave no hint of what he might possibly do. And he added he did not know whether the strike could be prevented since the government has exhausted nearly all of its authority.

Advised of the President's statement, a Missouri spokesman said the railroad would go ahead with plans to shut down operations. "Our plans are unchanged," he said. "We are preparing for the worst."

Embargo On Everything

Freight service on the 7,200-mile system already has stopped. An embargo on passenger, mail and baggage service goes into effect at midnight.

The last Missouri Pacific train to start a scheduled run will be the Sunflower, leaving Kansas City at 1:20 a. m. for St. Louis. Some long-distance trains will not complete their last runs until late tomorrow, after the strike deadline.

The railroad management and the four operating brotherhoods, each charging the other with responsibility for the walkout, noted the strike will have a crippling effect on industries in the railroad's territory.

The paralysis that goes with a railroad strike already was being felt by plants served by the carrier. There are more

Trivial Accident Attracts Crowd

A fender scrape, and then the sound of a siren on a police car, traveling down Ohio avenue, caused a large aggregation to gather around a couple of cars, which figured in a light collision on the east side of Ohio avenue in the 200 block, Saturday night, shortly before 8:00 o'clock.

E. J. Bailey of Knob Noster was backing a 1934 Plymouth to the curb, when in collision with a 1936 Plymouth sedan, driven north on Ohio avenue by Paul Baker of Ottumwa. The right front fender of the 1936 Plymouth sedan was the only damage arising from the collision.

Both drivers agreed to the damage adjustment at the collision scene.

Gun Club Improvements Underway

Trap Shooting and Lights Planned; Skeet Shooting Now

The Sedalia Gun Club is now under new management and the reorganization plan is being carried out as planned. An extensive expansion program which has been discussed from time to time is becoming a reality, according to Carl Wollet.

At the present time only skeet shooting can be enjoyed, while additional equipment for trap-shooting is being secured and will be installed in the near future. It is anticipated this equipment will be installed this week and should be ready soon.

Lighting Arrangements. Arrangements have also been made to have the field properly lighted so shooters who are unable to go to the range during the daytime can do so at night. Other improvements are in the making and the extent of these improvements depends a great deal on the membership of the organization. It was explained every man and woman interested in the shooting park should become a member.

A season program is planned for shoot contests and during the Thanksgiving and Christmas season turkey shoots will be sponsored at the range.

The Sedalia range is one of the very few in the State of Missouri which will have a lighted field, giving a place for practice in the evenings.

Additional Information. Mr. Wollet in discussing the club said any additional information desired could be obtained from him at the Wollet Electric Co., or at the range on Sunday or Thursday afternoon after 4:30 o'clock. The hours will be increased as the Fall season approaches.

Wed By Rev. B. B. Bess

Miss Audrey Mae Swopes, route 1, Hughesville, and Mr. Ralph E. Barr, route 4, Sedalia, were married Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock by Rev. B. B. Bess at his home at 1115 West Third street.

Red Cross Corner

The Red Cross office will be closed all day Monday, September 5, in observance of Labor Day. The Red Cross urges all veterans to make application for their Insurance Dividends. Our trained staff at the ARC office is ready and eager to render service in this instance.

This has been a grand summer for those Red Cross activities which emphasize individual participation. In the field of Red Cross First Aid, Henry Sutton, our Water Safety Instructor has had a full season. He has started advance training for five persons at the Catholic Center, the initial meeting for this having been held last Thursday evening at the Center. The purpose of this training is to be prepared for the Water Program next year. "The more of us who take first aid and water safety training, the more certainty there will be that, whenever and wherever, an accident happens, a trained worker will get there in those first few vital moments. Be prepared. Don't leave it all to the other fellow. Take some First Aid training yourself. Call the Red Cross Chapter—618—and enroll in one of the First Aid classes. Remember—the life you save may be your own."

The resumption of Sedalia and county school children of their school life in 1949-50 means the annual enrollment in these schools of the boys and girls who make up an important part of a great organization, Junior Red Cross. Since it was founded in 1917, the members of JRC have pledged themselves to service for others. They willingly give of their time and abilities in the finest American tradition. They display a record of achievement of which all may be proud. Their widespread activities not only benefit our home communities, but strengthen the bonds of friendship and international understanding. The Pettis County Chapter points with pride to the record of our elementary and high schools in Pettis county.

Call on Gov. Dewey to Send Guardsmen

Violence Still Flares in Bell Aircraft Strike

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Governor Dewey was asked today to send National Guardsmen as violence flared in the 13-week-old Bell Aircraft strike for the second successive day.

The request was made by District Attorney William E. Miller, of Niagara county, as flying squads of unionists attacked work-bound non-strikers.

Shortly after, at least 14 were reported injured in two attacks this morning. Miller said he telephoned Lawrence Walsh, Governor Dewey's assistant counsel, Miller said:

"I told him that no amount of local police coordination, including the three municipal police departments and Niagara county sheriff's office, could possibly cope with the local scene.

"I informed him that nothing short of the state militia could prevent further bloodshed."

Miller said he was convinced that "the responsible labor leaders no longer are in control of the situation and that all activities were being led by influences foreign to the local scene and unquestionably Communistically dominated."

Scores of wives of non-strikers sent telegrams last night to Governor Dewey expressing concern for the safety of their husbands and pleading for state police or militia protection.

Lawrence D. Bell, president of the Aircraft Company, joined Niagara County Sheriff Henry Becker in making such an appeal after about 50 strikers and sympathizers paraded through the plant on August 19.

Injured in Collision

Bell, injured in an automobile collision last night, was not available for comment on today's incidents. A company spokesman, however, quoted him as describing them as "pure, simple unadulterated anarchy."

The 14 hurt today were attacked in two isolated raids at distances of a mile or two from the plant.

Four were hurt when one of the squads numbering about 200 ambushed a cavalcade of seven buses carrying employees from Buffalo to the Bell plant in nearby Wheatfield.

Ten others were reported hurt when another squad chased a group of about 50 employees who had returned to the neighborhood of a housing project at the outskirts of Niagara Falls.

Undersheriff Arthur Muisiner of Niagara county said the group of non-strikers had assembled there at a restaurant after being turned back on their way to work. "When a flying squad of 'Goonies' got there, the group dispersed," said Muisiner.

"The squads chased them into the project. Some persons were caught and beaten on their lawns and porches in the sight of their families.

"As fast as more police arrived, more persons came out of the houses and said they had been injured.

Shortly after the disturbance, Motorcycle Patrolman John DeMarco of Niagara Falls said he fired five shots to disperse a group of unionists attacking a Bell worker in a field near the plant.

At Convention In Wheel Chairs

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(AP)—There are tables in the conference room, but few chairs. The delegates don't need them. They have brought their own chairs—wheel chairs.

Fourteen of them are here for the annual convention of the Paralyzed Veterans of America. They represent 1,800 members.

Opening the session yesterday in the Hotel New Yorker, President Bernard E. Shufelt told delegates that "we must stop looking to Washington for bigger bonuses, and go to work."

Paralyzed veterans, he said, can take their rightful place on the American scene only by their own "sweat and effort."

It is the first time that the organization has held its convention outside a veterans hospital.

Some of the students, like Miles Nevin, a student, and Verdell Poard, a metal crafts worker, both delegates of the Memphis, Tenn., chapter, drove to New York in specially adapted automobiles.

A message from President Truman, read to the convention, which lasts through Sunday, said:

"The heroic battle you are waging to assume your full responsibility to society is an inspiration to the nation."

Pay Decrease to Rubber Workers

NORWALK, Conn., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Members of Local 283, United Rubber Workers of America (CIO) voted last night to accept a decrease in pay averaging 11 cents an hour from the Norwalk Tire and Rubber company on a trial basis.

The union membership accepted the proposal, agreed on by its representatives at a negotiation meeting with the company yesterday, by a vote of 124 to 45.

The decrease will mean cuts in income ranging from two to 13 per cent.

In effect, this returns the rubber workers' pay to the level of two years ago when they were granted an 11 cents an hour increase by the company.

Officials of the firm, which laid off 350 employees in June, have promised that if business improves wages will be raised to last year's figure.

Captain States Job is to 'Sell' Naval Aviation

Officer Simpler in Testimony on the B-36 Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A navy captain who said it was part of his job to "sell" naval aviation to congressmen testified today that he and Cedric Worth "always agreed no airplane could be" as good as the air force claimed its B-36 to be.

The testimony came from Capt. Leroy Simpler of navy public relations, in a court of inquiry into the background of a memo that set off a congressional investigation of the huge bomber.

Worth was suspended from his job as special assistant to Dan Kimball, undersecretary of the navy, after he acknowledged in the congressional hearings that he wrote the memo suggesting fraud and politics in the B-36 program. Captain Simpler's testimony served to tie the B-36 controversy more tightly into the contest between the navy and the air force over their rival claims to fields of air warfare.

And he told of arranging a meeting between Worth and Rep. Deane (D-NC), quoting Deane as saying he wanted information on that navy-air force situation to help Jonathan Daniels make up his mind whether to accept appointment as secretary of the navy. He said he did it at Deane's request, relating to him second-hand, though he didn't know until the talk started what Deane had in mind.

The Deane-Worth talk, Simpler related, covered "in some ways" material that went into the controversial memo later.

Connection Denied

Daniels, Raleigh, N. C., publisher and former secretary to President Roosevelt, has denied any connection with the Worth memo.

Simpler said today that at the conference with Worth "Mr. Deane spent a good bit of the few minutes he had with us saying he was Mr. Daniels' representative in Washington."

The captain said he met Deane on one of several aircraft carrier trips on which the navy took members of Congress and reporters last spring. He said his job was to see that everything worked smoothly for the congressmen and "furthermore to sell them naval aviation."

Captain Sanford Wood, examiner for the naval court, quickly told Simpler: "I don't believe I'd go into all that detail."

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—President Truman said today he is considering asking another 10-day truce to avert a steel strike.

The board, appointed to study the steel labor dispute, is to make a report Saturday. The CIO steelworkers have a strike call slated to go into effect at midnight next Wednesday.

More Substance, Less Shine Make Better Moving Pictures

By Bruce Blossat

Hollywood's standard movie hero hardly ever needs more than a reel or two to achieve dazzling success, whatever his field. Usually his setbacks are minor. If not, the audience understands clearly that the obstacles will be licked before the final fade-out.

In this atmosphere of almost continuous good fortune, the unhappy word "depression" seems to have no place. How reassuring, then, to read that several leading Hollywood executives consider the film capital's business decline largely at an end.

The wailing was pretty loud last winter and there appears to have been some basis for it. In February only 22 pictures were in production. Film employment, including actors and all other trades, was down to 12,100 from the 16,300 at work in June, 1948. Dollar-short foreign countries were menacing the big overseas market for U. S. movies.

The outlook is more cheerful now. Forty-seven pictures are in the making, employment is up to 14,300, costs are down.

Savings have been realized by lopping off excess personnel, paring material expenses to a minimum, speeding up film shooting schedules and cutting salaries everywhere except among the top stars.

Production of several films abroad has helped to consume foreign earnings the companies were barred from taking home to America. (The overseas situation, however, is still far from bright.)

Perhaps the most encouraging fact of all was that after all the moaning was over the movie makers found their American earnings never had fallen very far below the peak postwar years.

There's a strong feeling in Hollywood that earnings held up because pictures got better as they became cheaper to produce.

Over the years, Hollywood has become so skillful technically that it has learned to impart a slick production polish to many films of average or poor quality. Often these increasingly expensive pictures were not the box office nuggets they were supposed to be.

Compelled to economize, some producers decided to dispense with slickness and give more attention to developing good stories and better actors. A lot of the acting talent was brand new and it didn't cost as much as did established stars.

The result, in Hollywood's own judgment, was a product that generally outshone the lavish films built around big names. The critics agreed.

Unfortunately, all major producers will probably not profit from this experience. Evidence suggests they will go on believing that a flimsy story turned out with a high gloss is what the public most wants.

Maybe they've been too busy to read the box office figures lately. If they had scanned them, they'd be striving for a little more substance and a little less shine.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round Sarajevo May Come Again To The Balkans

By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—Shortly after the end of World War I this writer stood beside a cracked piece of pavement on the main street of Sarajevo, Yugoslavia. The crack marked the place where a bomb, thrown at the Archduke Franz Ferdinand on June 28, 1914, had touched off the bloodiest war so far seen by man.

The bomb had been thrown several years before I, then a young reconstruction worker in the Balkans, visited Sarajevo; yet in those seven years the cracked pavement had not been repaired. Reconstruction moves slow in the Balkans, thought I — at that time being a very young idealist — but it moves sure. Never again would war come to sick and weary Europe.

Well, another war did come. And today events are shaping up in these same tired but turbulent Balkans which could bring still another Sarajevo almost over night.

Should Tito be assassinated, should the Red army divisions on the Hungarian-Yugoslav border start south, should revolt flare in Bulgaria, Hungary, Roumania, Czechoslovakia, then war might come all over again. And war in Europe has a habit of being contagious.

Danger vs. Hope

Yet with all its dynamite-laden danger, the Balkan situation also presents one of the most optimistic developments in the cold war against Russia. For, to date, Russia has suffered serious defeats.

There are three phases to the Balkan battle, one laid in Washington, one in Yugoslavia, one in the other satellite countries. Here is how they stack up:

Situation 1 — Washington: Without benefit of fanfare, the state department is doing an efficient job of boycotting trade to the little Iron Curtain countries. Several million dollars worth of goods ordered by Poland and Czechoslovakia are on New York docks ready to move. But they can't get clearance.

The Polish ambassador has been beating a path to state department doors, then to the commerce department, then back again. All he gets is the polite run-around. The state department says export licenses are issued by the commerce department and the commerce department says policy is fixed by the state department.

The run-around is no accident. It's deliberate and carefully planned. And it's having real repercussions behind the little Iron Curtain.

Situation 2 — Behind the little Iron Curtain —Near economic chaos now reigns in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Hungary, Roumania. This is partly a result of the U. S. trade boycott. People have money but they can't buy. There are no consumers goods on store shelves. And housewives are weary of Russian strangulation.

In addition, farmers are revolting at collectivization, national pride is coming to the front and people generally don't like their Russian masters.

Also, Tito, formerly an NKVD operator trained by the Soviet, is now using NKVD methods against the Soviet, not merely in Yugoslavia, but in all the satellite countries. He has about as many underground agents in Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Roumania as Moscow has working against him.

Should this network of underground revolt start popping, it may start a chain reaction throughout all eastern Europe.

Situation 3—Yugoslavia: Tito has had $30,000,000 in gold salted away in Portugal. He has now withdrawn $5,000,000 to finance revolts in other satellite countries. Once disliked by the Serbs, Tito is now their hero, thanks to opposing Moscow's farm collectivization. In fact, Tito, still a staunch Communist, is stronger at home than ever, could not be kicked out of office, can only be removed by assassination.

So far, Moscow has tried the latter course—and much more frequently than has leaked to the press. Apparently Stalin, worried over what goes on in the other satellite countries, doesn't want to risk open war with their friend Yugoslavia. However, if Stalin is slapped back too hard, he may have to invade Yugoslavia to save face.

Through U. S. eyes — If the Red army should cross the Yugoslav border, U. S. military experts believe Tito's troops can hold out about three months, which is longer than the French and Belgians could probably hold out in case the Russians tried to move to the English channel.

In the first place, Tito's troops, prior to the break with Moscow, had been favored above all the satellite countries. They had been built up to be the spearhead of an attack on Trieste and Italy, had received tanks, artillery, most of ti lend-lease from the U. S.

To bolster Yugoslavia's defense, the United States has enough arms to supply four divisions stored on the British island of Malta. They could be rushed to the Dalmatian coast in a hurry.

U. S. worry — Should Yugoslavia fall completely to Moscow, then Greece, according to U. S. experts, would soon go Communist. They point out that it was not until Tito cut off supplies to the Greek guerrillas that the Greek army made any real progress in cleaning up the Communists — despite the best brains and supplies the U. S. army could send.

And if Greece goes Communist, then Turkey, the Suez canal, plus Near Eastern oil areas and North Africa would follow. That is why a steel mill is being shipped to Tito today; also why he is getting an American loan, plus any supplies which can bolster the man who still remains a ruthless, unrelenting dictator, but who is the only European who has stood up against the power of the politburo and got away with it.

Helping Tito is, of course, a calculated risk which can have the same result as our 1940 aid to France and England — namely, embroiling us in war. Which is why the Balkans of 1949 could so easily be another Sarajevo.

The Patient's Reviving

Signs are piling up that America is in robust economic health despite the business drop-off in early 1949. Estimates of the country's travel expenditures this year are one of those signs.

Powel Crosley, Jr., auto manufacturer, predicts that U. S. vacation travel income will exceed $11,000,000,000 for 1949, an increase of 10 per cent over last year. He guesses that perhaps 70,000,000 will go vacationing by automobile this season, with another 10,000,000 going by other modes of transport.

That hardly sounds like the death rattle of the U. S. economy, does it?

Surefire Tests Prove That Your Marriage is Cemented

A marriage is safely through the dangerous years when — She can hear him pay another woman a pretty compliment without seeing green.

He knows when "Yes, dear" is the wisest answer.

She isn't hurt if he doesn't notice a new dress without a little prompting.

He doesn't have to explain why he's 20 minutes late to dinner.

She has given up trying to reform him.

He doesn't mind when she brings up the name of an old admirer.

She knows when to keep quiet and let him blow off steam at some minor annoyance.

He isn't surprised at anything she does.

She has learned how to kid him out of a grouch.

The Acid Test

He can announce that he's going on a week-end fishing trip without her wondering if he is tired of her.

She no longer worries about the girls in his office.

He is resigned to what seems to him her unbusinesslike way of handling business matters.

She tactfully reminds him of important dates, such as her birthday, their wedding anniversary, several days in advance.

He doesn't feel hurt if she leaves him for a couple of weeks to go home to Mother.

They can quarrel at breakfast and greet each other that evening with sheepish grins that are a signal that each is forgiven and no reconciliation scene needs to be staged.

When a marriage finally settles down to this it may not be terribly exciting — but you can be pretty sure it is going to last a lifetime.

Constant Standing May Lead To Serious Foot Trouble

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

WHEN human beings started walking upright instead of hanging from trees by their hands, they placed a heavy burden on their feet. The feet do the job pretty well, but they take a lot of pounding during the course of a lifetime.

The risk of developing serious foot difficulties can be lessened. One way to do this is to give the feet proper exercise. Children accomplish this by jumping, running, and skipping; they certainly avoid one of the worst practices, namely, standing still in one place for a long time!

For grownups whose occupations require constant standing, frequent periods of rest or short walks are often helpful. In other words, the foot needs a proper proportion of rest and exercise. Frequent bathing is desirable. Warm water or an alteration of warm and cold water tends to stimulate the circulation of blood in the feet and this also helps.

CAREFUL CHOICE OF SHOES

CHOICE of shoes is highly important. Children should have shoes which fit and that means particularly shoes which are not worn after a child's foot has outgrown them and the big toe presses into the shoe. Also the growing child should probably have a shoe with a straight inner margin and with a toe which can withstand rough treatment.

Men's shoes should protect the feet against hard surfaces, should fit properly and should allow enough room for the toes. Enough space should be permitted inside to allow the toes to move freely.

Style constantly interferes with the hygienic needs of the foot in women. The shoe with a high heel, if desired for style, ought to be eliminated during ordinary occasions, such as shopping, or walking, where the needs of the foot can be considered more important.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

QUESTION: I am not allowed to have any raw fruit or vegetables because of a spastic colon. What can I substitute in vitamins for these foods?

ANSWER: You will probably get enough in cooked fruits and vegetables, but if you do not your doctor can easily prescribe what vitamins you need in the form of prepared pills or capsules.

EMILY had taken to her bed since Gaynel had told her she was going to marry not Barry Bainbridge, but that outrageous young man without a penny to his name.

Dr. Carile said it was another attack of bronchitis after Gaynel discovered her mother was running a temperature. But Emily insisted it was nerves, with maybe a touch of heart in the bargain.

So Gaynel was obliged to break a date with Fritz, which was an important date, because he was going to Chicago for a week or so.

That night after Emily had gone to sleep, Gaynel slipped downstairs to the kitchen to fix herself a snack and almost collided with Denny in the kitchen.

"I sneaked in the side entrance," Denny admitted with a cocky grin.

"Sit down, Denny, I'll make you some coffee," Gaynel said. "Mother's in bed with bronchitis." "Poor Emily. So delicate."

Denny rested his elbows on the kitchen table, holding his head. "Now I know a lady who's just as lovely to look at. But underneath, she's steel. Inflexible. Can't bend her, even. That's the reason, dear sister of mine, you find your young brother a bit puffed tonight."

"A bit puffed?" Gaynel was measuring coffee, not paying much attention to his soliloquy.

"Just a bit." Denny passed a hand over his brow. "You see, this lovely lady wouldn't listen to me. She insulted me, too, this evening. Like yourself. When I asked her to be my wife."

"YOUR wife?" Gaynel gave him all of her attention now. She came over to him, shook him, so that he looked up. "What do you mean, Denny?"

"My wife," Denny said. His handsome young face was flushed, but his expression was serious, somber even. "Didn't I just get through telling you I asked her?"

"Denny! You don't mean you really asked someone to marry you. . . . You don't mean Mrs. Day, do you Denny?" Gaynel shook him twice more.

"Don't shake me!" he protested. "My head's bad enough. Guess I did take one too many. But so would you after being insulted. Course I asked Mrs. Day to marry me." He straightened up now, of his own accord.

"Why shouldn't I ask her?" he asked. "She's the only woman I ever loved. This is the only time, I tell you, I ever asked a woman to marry me. I'm going to reform. I'm going to make good. I'm going to do a lot of things."

"Denny, talk sense—if you can. How could you think of asking anyone to marry you? You haven't any money. You have other responsibilities here, though heaven knows you don't seem to realize them. You're always changing your jobs."

"I never asked any woman before. I never kept any job before. Haven't I kept this one? Haven't I made good? This is the first time I've been puffed since I met Madeline."

Barry had said Mrs. Day would be a good influence for Denny.

"Did she refuse you?"

Gaynel recalled Barry's words now, with a tinge of irony. It was true Denny did seem to be sticking to his job, had not been drinking lately; but if he had serious intentions, Barry had reminded Gaynel that Madeline Day would have something to say.

"She laughed at me," Denny said. His head drooped; then came up with a jerk. "She says I'm too young."

"But Denny, she is older than you, isn't she?"

"What does it matter? I only know I love her. You don't know what it is to love someone, Sis."

Oh, don't I, Gaynel thought. This was funny, almost laughable. When she had planned to tell Denny about Fritz, Denny had best her to it.

"You must meet her, Sis," Denny was going on. "You'll like her. She'll like you. Barry's met her," Denny added. "He thinks she's swell." Yes, Barry had made no effort to disguise the fact he had liked Mrs. Day. "She liked him, too," Denny glowered; lost his bright mood. "Too well, darn it. I'm jealous as the devil, Sis."

"THIS may be the first time you ever asked anyone to be your wife," Gaynel said, rather sharply, "but do you realize, Denny, that you would be Mrs. Day's third husband?" She brought the coffee pot to the table, sat down opposite him.

"I'd be her thirty-first, if she'd have me," Denny said sorrowfully. "You aren't doing much about it," she said, filling his cup for him. "Getting 'puffed,' as you call it. Whining."

"You'd get tight, too. If the person you love laughed at you. I'm gonna go to the dogs, drink myself to death."

"Drink your coffee now," Gaynel suggested dryly. "If I loved someone, and he turned me down, I'd fight for him." As she meant to fight for Fritz. Besides, if Mrs. Day could make Denny grow up, that would be something to be grateful to her for.

"You would?" A flicker of hope lightened Denny's dark eyes. He took a huge gulp of the steaming coffee. "That's what I'm gonna do, Sis. I'm glad now I told you about Madeline. I wasn't sure how you'd take it, you know. But I might have known you'd help me. Oh, Sis," his head went down between his hands on the table again, his body shook. "You can't know how I love her, Sis. If you did, if you loved someone like that, you'd understand. Maybe you wouldn't laugh."

"I'm not laughing," Gaynel said. He did not know how true that was.

American Bar Rejects U. N. Crime Idea

U. N. Proposal Is To Make Mass Murder A International Crime

By Tom Yarbrough

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The American Bar Association came out against mass murder Thursday but refused to go along with the exact language of a United Nations proposal to make it an international crime.

Debate Lasts Three Hours

After a hot debate that lasted three hours and into the afternoon, the House of Delegates decided the U. N. proposal threatens too much of this country's domestic law.

The lawyers demanded safeguards against giving any international body an authority over crimes now handled by federal and state courts.

As a result, the House of Delegates, policy making body of the ABA, adopted a compromise resolution "abhorring" genocide, a new word for mass killing on racial or religious grounds.

But it rejected the treaty as now written because of "important constitutional questions."

It was argued, for example, that under the genocide convention a lynching in this country could be put up to an international court for punishment. Others said that wasn't so, because of the emphasis on "mass" killing.

Treaty Before U. S. Senate

The treaty is before the U. S. Senate—and up to the other United Nations too. What the Bar Association had to decide was whether to recommend ratification or not. Its answer was "no—not without important reservations."

The thing that made the attorneys insist on reservations is a peculiar turn of the U. S. constitution, as compared with others over the world. In this country, when the Senate ratifies a treaty, it has the force of domestic law, overriding previous federal and even state laws in case of a conflict of authority. In most other countries they ratify—and then have to enact more laws to make the treaty work.

That's why Harold E. Stassen, former presidential aspirant, at this convention came out for a constitutional amendment to put this country in line with the others.

Holman In Debate

Frank E. Holman of Seattle, retiring president of the ABA and a strong opponent of the genocide convention, had said he would keep out of the debate, but in the last stages he came forth with a speech.

One committee of the ABA, headed by Carl B. Rix of Milwaukee, former ABA president, was flatly against ratification of the genocide convention. Another, headed by Charles S. Rhyne of Washington, D. C., was for it with major reservations. The House of Delegates handed the matter to a special committee for a compromise and adopted that group's proposal.

Philip E. Periman, solicitor general of the United States, contended the compromise would be "no action at all" and would show the bar "going in different directions at the same time."

China-Aid Plan Near Compromise

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Senators edged toward a compromise China-aid plan Thursday after a military expert told them a $75,000,000 outlay—plus U. S. supervision—might check the tide of Communism in Asia.

Vice Admiral Oscar C. Badger recommended the Far Eastern Anti-Communist fund to a closed-door meeting of the Senate foreign relations and armed services committees. The group is studying an arms plan to strengthen friendly nations against Communism.

Badger told the Senators that four areas remain in China where Red armies might be effectively opposed. He said American assistance could possibly save Thailand, Burma, India and other Far East areas "from falling under Red domination."

He also suggested the aid should be given only to Chinese leaders with plans which meet the approval of American officials. And the aid should be directed by Americans.

This report of Badger's testimony was relayed to reporters by Senator Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the combined Senate committees. The admiral has just returned to Washington from duty in the Pacific where he has been serving as commander of U. S. Naval forces in the Far East.

Connally who has been the chief opponent of direct aid to non-Communist China, said he would go along on a compromise to give President Truman authority to spend $50,000,000 (M) to $75,000,000 (M) for an anti-Communist program in Asia. The Texan insisted, however, he would not agree to a compromise which would earmark a specific sum for China aid.

General Says Russia Has Already Declared War

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Russia already has declared war on the United States, Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, U. S. Air Force, retired, told a meeting of Pacific Gas Association delegates.

As formula for liberty, Gen. Eaker suggested: "Realize our danger, stay strong, destroy the fifth column which is stronger than that which took over Czechoslovakia; support research so this nation may have the best weapons; keep manpower strong by settling differences between manpower and labor, and teach our children patriotism."

Hunted Negro Hides Among Dead Bodies

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 9.—(AP)—For two hours police chased Frank Ray, 19, Negro, wanted for questioning in a robbery. Finally the suspect darted into a funeral home.

The officers said they were stumped until they had an idea. They went into the morgue with a flashlight and began feeling the bodies side-by-side. Sure enough, they came upon a warm one. It was Ray.

Nephew of Shelton Gang
Leaders Shot

Fired on as he Reached Home in Fairfield, Ill.

FAIRFIELD, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—A barrage of bullets poured from ambush early today into "Little" Earl Shelton, 33-year-old nephew of the gang leaders who had terrorized southern Illinois for years.

Police chief Elma Murgage said "Little" Earl was fired on as he drove up to the front of his home here shortly after midnight.

Murgage said he was patrolling in the area and heard the salvo of several shots, all fired within a few seconds. He sped to the Shelton home where, he said, he found "Little" Earl in his house moaning and bleeding badly from four or five bullet wounds in the thigh and one in the head.

Shelton was still conscious, the chief said, and related that the gunmen fired from a car which was parked across the street from the Shelton home when the victim drove up. Murgage said Shelton's wounds were from at least two calibers of bullets. He expressed belief at least one of the weapons was a machine gun because of the rapid succession of the shots he heard.

At an Evansville, Ind., hospital, Dr. John W. Fisher said Shelton will recover in spite of his many wounds. He said Shelton had "a large number of wounds" in the upper legs and thighs, but a rib deflected one slug and another merely creased his forehead.

Shelton was taken to Evansville in the same ambulance which took his uncle, "Big" Earl Shelton, for treatment of an ambush bullet wound last May 24. He is in the same hospital, too, where he stood guard for several weeks at "Big" Earl's room.

Present as Others Shot

Today's attempt was the first on the life of "Little" Earl. But he was present when his uncle, Carl Shelton, was slain on October, 1947, and also was in the club room here last May when "Big" Earl was shot in the back by a gunman who fired through a second story window of a private club.

Little Earl had been associated with "Big" Earl in a gambling venture which has since been closed. He is married, has two small children and gives his occupation as a farmer with "Big" Earl. They operate large land holdings in southern Illinois.

During the prohibition era of "Little" Earl's three uncles—"Big" Earl, Carl, Bernie were blamed for about 40 slayings in southern Illinois, including those of two mayors and a state patrolman and his wife.

Among the victims were Mayors Joe Adams of West City and Jeff Stone of Colp and State Patrolman Lory Price and his wife. But rival gang followers of Charlie Birger were blamed for these four deaths. Birger was hanged. Bernie Shelton was killed from ambush near Peoria, Ill., on July 26, 1948.

Battle of Salerno Started Six Years Ago in Italy

strip for American fighter bombers. We came from Sicily on board a British tank landing ship.

As we approached the shore I could see bright orange flashes from British artillery pieces on the sands.

"Why have they got the artillery still on the beaches?" asked a soldier new to battle.

"That's as far as they can get," said the ship captain.

We camped behind a British battery. That night German counter battery fire landed in our position and killed some men. The next night we bunked in an apple orchard. A German plane found us with flares and put a bomb in the middle of our orchard.

But by the next day the airstrip was built.

Then the long march up the mountainous peninsula began. It was like a war between quarrelling ants on the backbone of a dinosaur.

Thousands of men became disillusioned for life about Italy's famous sunny climate. It rained and stormed, and high winds blew down hospital tents on the wounded. If it wasn't rocky underfoot it was muddy.

And the army moved like a sluggish measuring worm. For weeks progress was in yards rather than miles. The Germans seemed to have a hill for every soldier, and it took a million dollars worth of artillery — and some blood — to take each hill.

Naples fell and its hollow-eyed people held out their hands for food, crying "Mangiare! Mangiare!" and "Panel Panel!" The water mains were blown, the streets ankle deep in filth. In hospitals there were no bandages and the sick died on mattresses laid in rows along the candlelit floors.

Then came the siege of Cassino, Anzio and the break through to Rome.

But the next day a vast force hit the beaches of Normandy and the eyes of the world turned to France, the portal that led to Germany.

For the rest of the war the troops in Italy wore their hearts out against the endless mountains that had forgotten front. And today they remember the campaign with little pleasure.

For when peace came the Germans still hadn't run out of mountains.

Girls From The West Are Ranked as The Prettiest

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Are girls from west of the Mississippi prettier than eastern or southern belles?

Preliminary results in the 1949 Miss America pageant seem to point that way. All of the preliminary winners announced in the talent and bathing suit divisions are from the wide open spaces with one exception—Miss Canada.

Tonight's third and final preliminary contest may give the westerners the upper hand in the finals tomorrow night, but no one will know until the 15 finalists are announced then.

Sylvia Canaday, an 18-year-old eyelet from Denver, "Miss Colorado," took first honors in the bathing suit preliminary last night. The night before "Miss Arizona," Jacque Mercer of Litchfield, and Jane Ann Pederson of Santa Rosa, "Miss California," tied for the classy chasid award.

A demure Canadian Miss, Margaret Lynne Munn of Toronto, pulled down the top spot in the talent division last night with a rendition of "Sempere Libera" from the opera "La Traviata." And another west-of-the-Mississippi beauty won in talent the night before—"Miss Minnesota," Gloria Yvonne Burkhardt of Minneapolis.

But eastern and southern gals may make up for their losses in the personality and evening gown divisions, in which nightly preliminary winners are not announced.

Frequently, some of the girls selected among the 15 finalists come as a complete surprise to the audience. There have even been instances when an announced preliminary winner failed to make the grade in the finals.

But generally a preliminary winner is a cinch for a crack at the finals for the $25,000 Miss America scholarship jackpot.

One of the three-minute talent acts in last night's show may well be the first time (and the last time) in 29 years that an animal has appeared on the huge convention hall stage in the Miss America contest.

"Miss Montana" in her bid for a talent trophy, appeared aboard her nine-year-old mare to display her horsemanship. The contestant—Carol Rosebel Fraser of Billings—walked, trotted and cantered the mare. Then she showed the audience of 7,000 a short color film of herself riding, and paraded her numerous trophies and ribbons.

She did not place in the talent contest.

Approve Bill of Human Rights

STRASBOURG, France, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Council of Europe's Consultative Assembly wound up its historic first session today shortly after okaying a bill of human rights.

During its one-month sitting the 12-nation body approved a number of recommendations which may help weld the political and economic unity of Europe.

The 10 rights and freedoms were listed as:

1. Security of the person.
2. Exemption from all slavery and servitude.
3. Freedom from all arbitrary arrest, detention and exile.
4. Freedom from all arbitrary interference in private and family life, home and correspondence.
5. Freedom of thought, conscience and religion.
6. Freedom of opinion and expression.
7. Freedom of assembly.
8. Freedom of association.
9. Freedom to be united in trade unions.
10. The right to marry and found a family.

high importance in the economic outlook.

Nourse is represented as feeling that excessive wage increases would be damaging, since they might force prices up immediately. An outbreak of strikes affecting thousands of workers in key industries also would be hurtful, he believes.

The most favorable outcome, in the view of the economic chairman, would be a moderate wage increase, attained by peaceful bargaining and largely absorbed by industry without increasing prices and thus discouraging consumer buying.

Brooklyn Loses After Giants Crush 'em 10-1

BROOKLYN, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Henry Thompson and Bobby Thomson each hit two-run homers in a big 6-run seventh inning today to pace the New York Giants to a 10-1 victory over Brooklyn's second place Dodgers.

The loss snapped a six-game winning streak and dropped the Dodgers a game and a half behind the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals. The Cards play at Cincinnati tonight.

Robson Not to go Back to Peekskill

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Paul Robeson, target of two anti-Communist demonstrations that flared into mass violence, near Peekskill, N. Y., has decided not to attend another scheduled gathering in that area.

Word of the decision came from the left-wing Negro singer's associates yesterday as more public figures, including President Truman and Henry Wallace, denounced the widespread disorders.

In Washington, President Truman said he agreed fully with remarks of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who in her syndicated column has called the outbreaks "disgraceful."

The American Civil Liberties Union, meanwhile, offered rewards of $500 each for information leading to arrests of persons who took part in the stonings and other attacks on Robeson concert-goers last Sunday.

Wallace, Progressive party leader, wrote to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declaring that the "violent outbreaks of racial and religious bigotry and political intolerance was deliberate and premeditated."

Honor The Sabbath

The story is told of a farmer who liked to make fun of a neighbor who never, like himself, worked on Sundays, but went early to church and spent the rest of the day quietly at home. One day he accosted the man and began ridiculing him for his "oddness."

After listening patiently for a while, the second farmer turned to the first and said: "Suppose I had seven dollars in my pocket and meeting a poor man gave him six. What would you say?"

"I would say," replied the first farmer, "that that was a good deed and that you deserved to be thanked."

"All right. Now suppose that instead of thanking me the poor man knocked me down and robbed me of my other dollar. What then?"

"Why, I'd say hanging was too good for such a blackguard."

"Well, my friend," said the second farmer, "that is your case exactly. God has given you six days to labor, and has reserved the seventh for himself. But instead of thanking Him, you want to rob Him of the seventh day also."

A great many people who look upon themselves as good Christians are strangely lax about keeping holy the Sabbath day. Sunday morning may find them indulging in an hour or two of extra sleep or getting ready for a day's outing. They treat Sunday as a holiday rather than as a Holyday.

Going to church on Sunday is the least recognition due to God. Nor should church-going be regarded merely as giving a decent deference to the Creator. It is a profession of faith—a demonstration of loyalty to the Supreme Being that is particularly valuable, from the point of view of good example, if nothing more, in these days when irreligious forces are at work everywhere.

Not going to church on Sundays is an encouragement to those who would not only deprive Sunday of all its sacred associations, but banish God entirely from men's minds and lives.

The extent to which America remains true to its Christian heritage and tradition must be gauged by the fidelity with which its people honor the Sabbath. That Americans are a hard-working, enterprising, and progressive people is evident from the high degree of material prosperity they have achieved. But that many of them are suffering from a poverty of spirit seems indicated by the fact that more than half the pews in America's churches are empty on Sundays.

Sunday School Lesson

Psalms Reflect Faith Of Atomic Age

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Jesus and His disciples were thoroughly versed in the Old Testament Scriptures. The Old Testament was their Bible, and Christ declared that He had not come to destroy, but to fulfill.

The quotations from the Psalms in the New Testament are many and varied, but there is to be found a special interest in tracing and indicating certain parallels, which constitute New Testament enrichments.

Read the 23rd, or Shepherd Psalm, then turn to the tenth chapter of John and read of the Good Shepherd. Here, the Lord who is the shepherd is personified in the Christ, who actually gave His life for the sheep. The Psalm comes to its richest experience and fulfillment in the gentle, loving Master, who made the supreme sacrifice, in a love that could not fail, or rest, while one sheep was lost, though ninety-nine might be safe. The Parable of the Lost Sheep is a part of the shepherd story.

Next to this, the most striking parallel between the Psalms and the New Testament is in setting alongside the 46th Psalm the closing verses in Paul's eighth chapter of Romans.

That 46th Psalm might be expressive of the faith that we need in this atomic age. Apart from all outward differences the times of Psalm came are remarkably like our own.

In the world of the atomic bomb and the threat of its use in war, discounting all the worst predictions of what might happen, we know that a peril of dire destruction has settled down on the peaceful communities that hitherto had little to fear. Vast cities might be wiped out with little recovery or survival.

That, in a way, was precisely the situation of the man of faith who wrote that Psalm. The idea of an atomic bomb was many centuries away, but very similar and perhaps even more real than ours, was the danger constantly besetting people living in that little land of Palestine, situated between the great ancient empires warring for conquest and world mastery. Again and again it was overrun, its people destroyed, dispersed or carried into exile. The Northern Kingdom was shattered beyond restoration. It was, therefore, no merely poetical sentiment when the Psalmist wrote: "God is our refuge and strength; therefore, will not we fear," and went on to declare his courage of faith, though his whole world should be destroyed.

Turn now to the 8th of Romans. Here, in the conclusion of a long chapter Paul lists first of all the possible experiences of trial and suffering and then all possible powers and forces and he says that none of these things shall be able to separate us from "the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

This might be termed the faith of an atomic age. How can we get it? I think by living with those who have it and above all by so living with the Christ of the New Testament that He becomes to us, as He did to Paul, the most secure fact of all life and time.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"SUBSTANCE" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 11, 1949.

Golden Text: I Cor. 2: 9, 10. Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear." (Heb. 11: 1, 3) The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth, Life, and Love are substance, as the Scriptures use this word in Hebrews: 'The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.' Spirit, the synonym of Mind, Soul, or God, is the only real substance." (p. 465)

Manpower is Looking Good In Big Seven

Charles, through the International Boxing club which holds his promotional rights, yesterday agreed to defend his title in a 15-round match October 14 in the huge San Francisco Cow Palace. Terms include a $50,000 guarantee or 35 per cent of the gate. Jim Norris, president of the I. B. C., telephoned from New York the terms were satisfactory.

The last heavyweight title event in this city saw James J. Jeffries knock out challenger Jack Monroe, August 25, 1904.

Faurot Welcomed Tackle Candidate To Missouri Team

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The manpower situation is beginning to look better in the Big Seven conference.

Claude Arnold, one of four players seeking the first string quarterback post with the 1948 champion Oklahoma Sooners, apparently has shaken off injuries that had him hobbling around the last few days.

Arnold shared the throwing honors with Darrell Royal, Bow Eubanks and sophomore Frank Silva in a forward passing drill on a wet Sooner field.

Coach Bud Wilkinson announced the Sooners would be flown to their game with Boston college in a DC-6 Sept. 23. Two DC-3s will transport the Oklahoma Sooners to their other out of town games.

At Columbia

At Columbia, Mo., Coach Don Faurot welcomed the reporting of George Ahrens, sophomore tackle candidate, to the Missouri Tigers. Faurot says talent is scarce at the tackle posts and that he would try to have Ahrens ready for some activity against Ohio State Sept. 24.

Coach Jules Sikes, pushing his Kansas Jayhawkers for their opener with Texas Christian university at Lawrence, Kas., a week from Saturday, promoted sophomore guard Ron White to the first eleven.

Kansas State sharpened its aerial attack at Manhattan, Kas., in a drill that was pleasing to Coach Ralph Graham. Wildcats open against Fort Hays State on Sept. 24.

At Iowa State

At Ames, Iowa, Coach Abe Stuber had all but four of his injured hands back on the active list. Still sidelined with injuries were backs Eddie Green and Jerry McGlynn, guard Joe Brubaker and center Len Daib.

Colorado and Nebraska were able to go to full blast. The Netis, Neb., has dwindled to 50, but braska squad, in training at Cur-the squad is in good condition. The Huskers worked four and a half hours in two drills yesterday.

Baseball Roundup of Major League Games on Thursday

Red Rolfe's Detroit Tigers, hottest club in baseball with a steaming 16-out-of-18 fever, today seemed to have delivered the kayo wallop to the World Champion Cleveland Indians.

The Tribe still has a mathematical chance at the American League pennant. So do the Tigers, but it's only a fleeting hope.

Detroit vaulted into a near tie with Cleveland for third place by sweeping a day-night doubleheader yesterday on the pitching of Hal Newhouser and Ted Gray. Both are six games behind the idle New York Yankees, but the Indians hold third by an .002 margin.

Game Washed Out

Rain washed out the New York-Boston game, turning the big series into a two-game set. The worst the Yanks can get is a split. Every day their 2½ game lead looks more comfortable.

Middlecoff Trails 52 in K.C. Tourney

Vowed Today he Was Out to Pick Up Ground

By Skipper Patrick
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 9.—(AP)—National champion Cary Middlecoff, trailing 52 players, vowed today he was out to pick up ground in the $5,000 Kansas City Open golf tournament.

Middlecoff, who practices dexterity between his busy schedule of tournaments and exhibitions, found himself eight strokes off the medal face with a 76 after first round firing over the 6,319-yard par 72 Swope Park public course.

Both Middlecoff and tournament officials declared a misunderstanding was responsible for the U. S. Open titlist's announced intentions of withdrawing after he had failed to conquer the hilly strip yesterday.

Here on a Guarantee

Middlecoff is here on a $500 guarantee, according to tournament chairman Bill Sanders. The lanky Memphis, Tenn., shot maker said he was unaware at the start that he had any "sure pay" coming.

Middlecoff said he was exceedingly tired from the steady grind of 16 exhibitions in the last 20 days. He complained of a lame back.

He started today eight strokes off the medal pace set by Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kas., Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., and Bill Mathews of Kansas City. The three turned in first round 68s.

Jim Ferrier of San Francisco posted a 69 on the damp course.

While amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., winner of the last Open here, was also using 76 strokes, stocky Bo Wininger of Stillwater, Okla., shot a fancy 70 to establish himself as a threat for both the amateur and championship honors.

Attendance Drop In K-O-M League

By The Associated Press
Rain washed out both K-O-M League playoff games last night. The post-season series resumes tonight with Independence at Ponca City and Bartlesville at Iola. Independence needs only a victory tonight to make it three straight over the Dodgers in the best of five series, Bartlesville and Iola had each won a game before bowing to the weather last night.

Meanwhile complete attendance figures for the league's regular season showed a decline compared to figures for 1948.

Five clubs, Miami, Carthage, Iola, Chanute and Independence, drew better this year than last, but the losses at Ponca City, Pittsburg and Bartlesville more than outbalanced the gains.

No Change in The National Flag Chase

Cards Crushed Cubs While The Dodgers Beat N. Y. Giants

By The Associated Press
There's no change in temperature today in the National League flag chase. It's still feverish.

The St. Louis Cardinals clung to their one-game edge last night by crushing the Chicago Cubs 8 to 0 while the Brooklyn Dodgers took a 12 to 7 victory over the New York Giants.

It was southpaw Harry Brecheen's night in St. Louis. Not content with his three-hit pitching, he went on a batting rampage.

The Cat Got 3 Hits

The cat banged out three hits, including a double, scored three runs and drove in another. He registered seven strikeouts in chalking up his 12th victory.

Brecheen was "right" from the start. No one reached base on him until the fifth, when big Hank Sauer doubled. In the seventh he allowed a triple—off the bat of Herm Reich.

The Cat's brilliance brought him his second shutout of the season and gave the Cardinals their 11th victory in 14 starts.

The Redbirds rapped four cub pitchers for 14 hits, with Bob Rush getting blamed for the loss.

Enos Slaughter

Like Brecheen, Enos Slaughter also had three hits for four times at bat. Stan Musial and Solly Hemus collected two each.

The Cards went to work early on Rush. Musial singled in the first to score Schoendienst, who had walked and gone to third on a stolen base and a wild throw.

In the second, Brecheen singled and then scored on Schoendienst's double.

Four runs were scored in the fourth and then two in the eighth.

In Chicago, the Browns again fell before the White Sox to give Chicago a clean sweep of a two-game series. The score was 3 to 1 and represented the Browns' fifth straight loss. Ned Garver pitched for St. Louis, Bob Kuzava for Chicago.

Ernie Bonham Has Serious Operation

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Big Ernie Bonham, the ex-New York Yankee pitcher who's been hurling his heart out for the hapless Pittsburgh Pirates, underwent a serious operation yesterday.

However, Ernie was reported in satisfactory condition by his surgeon.

"Originally we planned to remove Bonham's appendix but we found Ernie needed a little more surgical attention and the operation required three hours," the surgeon said, adding:

"It was a serious operation but so far Ernie has responded well and we consider his condition satisfactory."

Sport Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Don't be surprised if such traditionally conservative football teams as Duke and Penn State join the swing toward the popular "T" formation this season.

Joe Bedenk, successor to solid Bob Higgins at Penn State, already has begun installing some wing-T plays, run from an unbalanced line in the Michigan manner.

Duke's Wallace Wade sprang a "T" play on Wake Forest last fall and Jack Friedland went 62 yards on it.

Wade isn't talking now, but Duke fans and opposing coaches feel sure he will spring some tricky offensive patterns on them.

Babe McCoy, the Los Angeles Olympic club matchmaker, is heading for the Graziano-Fusari fight in New York with the idea of bringing back a few "name" boxers for his arena.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has just started an emergency drive and sports chairman Grant Rice is appealing to every branch of sports to pitch in and help.

How's That Again?

Direct quote from Mel Allen's broadcast of the Yankees-Red Sox game Wednesday night: "Well, how about that? Rizzuto made one of the greatest one-handed scoops while going head over heels and tagged Zarilla that you ever saw."
